Academic All-Stars Win First Competition

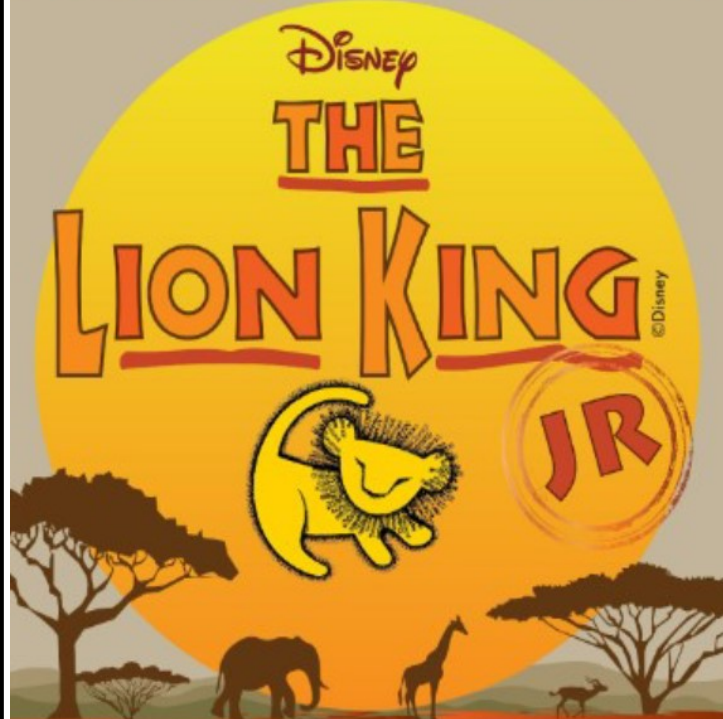

Addison Academic All-Stars competed in their first match of the season on February 6th against Canisteo-Greenwood. It was a very competitive first match with Addison winning 14-9. The Academic All-Stars compete every Monday through the month of March and have a home match on March 6th at Addison High School that begins at 6:15 PM. Mrs. English and Miss Havens are the co-advisors of the Academic All-Stars club. Mrs. English meets with students after school a couple times a week doing trivia preparation and Miss Havens accompanies and coaches the students during the matches.

Academic All-Stars is a group of students that challenge other teams in academic trivia. There are two teams (A and B) and they compete against other schools in a wide range of subjects based on New York State curriculum. This club is open to all students that have an overall average that is above 93% for the A-team and below 93% for the B-team. The Academic All-Stars team roster is closed for this season, but the club welcomes students to join for next year.

MIDNIGHT AND SQUIRE PRODUCTIONS PRESENTS

PE Students Take to the Net

During the month of February, the physical education program is focusing on net sports, which incorporates badminton, table tennis, and pickleball.

All of these activities are lifetime activities that promote wellness.

Students will learn a variety of skills, how to keep score and the rules of the game.

THE ADDISON CSD BOARD OF EDUCATION (BOE) WILL HOLD A BUSINESS MEETING ON TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 28TH AT 6:00 PM IN THE TUSCARORA CAFETERIA.

Getting to Know:

Addison welcomes Chiara, (Chia) L.! She is from Sardinia, Italy and is 17. Much like the other exchange students, she has one more year of high school once she returns home. At her school in Italy, the teachers travel to the students instead of the students changing classroom locations. Chia wants to go to college for marketing and business. She would also like to continue playing basketball as she loves it. She played it in Italy and also plays it here in Addison.

Chia is not sure if she wants to attend a college in the United States or Italy or where she wants to live in the future. Her favorite food is bagels. She went with her host family to Florida and hopes to visit NYC.

A fun fact about Chia is that she despises feet!

The Ever-Changing Future: Mrs. English

One of the greatest struggles for highschoolers is figuring out their career plan. As shown by some adults, you don't need to have your whole life planned out. An excellent example is Mrs. English. Growing up in Addison, Mrs. English wanted to be an artist but was raised in a time where women weren't encouraged to pursue their dreams. By high school, her only plan was to get out of Addison. When Mrs. English went to college at Alfred State, she majored in business administration and earned a two-year degree. She was going to get a bachelor's degree, but she didn't want to take on more student loans and be drawn into debt.

After college she was hired by Friendly's as a manager. A few months later, her job brought her to Virginia. While working there, she enjoyed her job and met a lot of great people. Eventually, she returned to New York and worked in her mother's flower shop. This job utilized her business degree and her creativity. In the 12 years she was at that job, she was responsible for book-keeping, floral arrangements, ordering and taxes. When her mother retired and closed the shop, she went off to work for a Corning florist. After eight months of being unhappy with this job, she stumbled across an ad for new floral equipment. This prompted her to open her own flower shop right on Main Street in Addison called English Gardens: "I loved what I did."

Even though she loved being a florist, she didn't have a lot of time for her family. She decided to sell her beloved shop and become a substitute teacher in the Addison School District. After subbing for three years and working almost every day, a co-worker suggested that she apply to be a teaching assistant. She has now been a teaching assistant for 15 years. She loves her job and has formed many valuable relationships. Some advice from Mrs. English: "Set goals and if something happens don't keep yourself tied to them" as well as "Enjoy life and if something isn't making you happy, then you can change it." Mrs. English's story truly represents how things don't always go the way you plan but it always turns out in the end.

Remote Learning Plan for Addison CSD:

Addison District Families - As you are likely aware, the District has already used three (3) emergency closure days this year. What does this mean for the students and their families as we navigate through the remaining school year?

It means that the next emergency closing/snow day WILL BE REMOTE as long as we know the school day before to prepare staff, students, and families/caregivers. Proceeding in this way will avoid the possibility of having to reclaim days from our remaining school breaks in February and April while also allowing us to preserve the possibility of having two (2) days remaining at or near the end of the school year to flex as needed.

The general idea is that a pivot to remote learning is a "regular" school day in the sense that all students will be learning, all teachers will be teaching, and all support staff will be working/learning.

The students will be learning at home and the teachers will be teaching at home (or teaching from their classrooms/school building). Each Program Level Principal will be communicating building level details regarding how the remote learning day for students will look and the expectations for participation. Additional information about technology support on remote days will be forthcoming.

Please Note: The idea here is to make the remote learning experience as "regular" of a learning day as possible. This will be a continuous work in progress with expected small bumps along the way while knowing that it will be OK. Be on the lookout for communications from your child's Principal.
